

Sales and nonlinear prices when consumers have time inconsistent preferences

Marit Hinnosaar
Collegio Carlo Alberto

Abstract

The paper studies the impact of sales and nonlinear prices of a storable good on consumers with time inconsistent preferences. It develops a storable goods demand model in a continuous time infinite horizon framework that allows consumers to be time inconsistent.

The model is estimated using data from consumers who want to lose weight.